

Dr. Paul Devgan is a senior electronics engineer at Sensors Directorate, Air Force Research Laboratory (AFRL), Wright-Patterson Air Force Base (WPAFB), Ohio. He is the technical lead on multiple programs utilizing photonics to address our Nation's warfighter needs. Dr. Devgan joined the Air Force Research Laboratory in 2013. Prior to joining AFRL, he worked at the Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) in Washington, DC. He has led multiple programs that have resulted in transferring technology to warfighter platforms.